*At the foot of the mountains
Is our college proud she stands.
Serving all who want her service.
Blessing all with outstretched hands.
Alma Mater, Alma Mater,
We sing our love to thee;
We pledge our hearts in deep devotion—
Our love, our faith, e-ter-nal-ly.*

DEDICATION

THE dream of a "Greater Gardner-Webb" has made its debut as a result of the whole-hearted support of Mr. Horace Easom and Ex-Governor O. Max Gardner.

Mr. Easom has given unstintingly of himself, and it was he who awakened interest in the college in the minds of new friends and reawakened interest in minds of old ones.

We have greatly benefited from their gifts in more ways than one. So many of us would have been unable to come to college if Ex-Governor Gardner had not so kindly aided in the form of scholarships. Much of the beauty of our campus would have been lacking if he had not given generously. He also gave a $100,000 insurance policy and through his influence others have contributed.

In recognition and appreciation of their generosity we inscribe this, the 1943 BUBBLES, to them.

We appreciate their generous gifts of time and money and we assure them that the magnanimity of their hearts will live on in the memory of each of us.

It is impossible
for me to tell you how much I appreciate your Christian attitude toward me. J. R. Cantrell

Appreciation of Mr. Cantrell

FOR four years our beloved President, the Reverend John R. Cantrell, has carried the heavy load of operating a college on insufficient funds. He came to the school during its darkest hours, and it was through his efforts and foresight that people began to see the need for "A Greater Gardner-Webb." He gave of himself unreservedly and asked nothing in return. His every waking hour has been spent in thought for Gardner-Webb and her students. He has met every demand with a sense of understanding and friendship which has inspired love and admiration in students and colleagues alike. Our hats are off to him, and never will we forget the things he has done for us. Truly we can say of Mr. Cantrell, "he was a good man and a just."

Appreciation of the Boys in Service

We highly honor our boys in Uncle Sam's service who so bravely set forth with a smile and a wave of the hand to assure us that "the star spangled banner forever shall wave o'er the land of the free and the home of the brave."

HISTORY

DEAR DIARY

We, the class of '43, wish to narrate some of our experiences on B. S. C. campus September—College life begins. Gosh, but we were so green we made the grass turn pale in contrast. We had never felt quite so forlorn before, but we soon fell into the groove and life ran smoothly. Boom! It felt like a bomb on a calm day, our "big sisters" were kindly going to initiate us into being full-fledged college gals. They really accomplished a major feat, too! Confidentially, Diary, we were dreadfully scared, especially at rat court, but it was all fun. We really mixed honey with our peas to keep them on our knife (since that was the only utensil with which we were allowed to eat).

October—Diary, this month was crowded and I mean jammed with work. We came up to bat on test and "honest injun" some few of us made home runs!

November—Just think, Diary, three more weeks until Thanksgiving holidays. All of us walked around with our heads in the clouds and a song in our hearts. We returned in high spirits ready for work and more work.

December—Diary, it makes me sad just to think of it—the Japs attacked Pearl Harbor and a great sad silence cast its shadow over our campus: with somber faces we embarked for Christmas holidays with our families.

January—Ah! It's a new year and New Year's resolutions fell thick and fast. Our mid-semester tests fell on the week beginning January 25 (that date is burned on our minds), and at the end of the mental grind we flung ourselves with characteristic abandon into the job of having a good time.

February—Burr—it seemed that old man winter had just arrived with all his cold cohorts. It was also during this month that Mr. Horace Easom really began to get results from his hundred-thousand dollar campaign.

March—It is snowing, Diary, just wait until I get out there in it. The boys have made a lovely looking snowman who sits placidly on the front lawn.

April—Goodness, Diary, but that banquet, our Junior-Senior, was a big success with everyone. Every boy took his best girl all decked in her finery and we really had fun. We also began work on our May Day. Practice—practice.

May—Diary, the end of a perfect year is drawing nearer day by day. As May Day and the crowning of Margaret Jones as May Queen ended in great splendor, our minds were turned again toward that mental monster, final examinations. The seniors got their parchment, which stands for two years of hard labor, and the curtain fell on the last scene of Act I of this tragic-comedy. Goodbye now, Diary, but we'll confide again in your sacred pages on September 15, 1942.

My, what a transformation! I can hardly believe my eyes—that shiny new building, all the equipment: our school even has a new name, Gardner-Webb College.

September—Hello, Diary, my but we've missed you! It is just like coming home, meeting all of those people who have come to mean so much to us. Gosh, the freshman class is large and just full of nice looking, intelligent people. School gets under way again and it is wonderful to be back.

October—At last we get to pay off the damage done to our vanity at initiation last year. The sophomores were terribly afraid they would oversleep, but there wasn't any peaceful sleep after six o'clock on that fateful day. We had more fun playing tricks on our "little sisters," but they were grand sports and could take it and have fun too. My! It's grand to have all these conveniences—more boys included. Due to labor shortage, "lots" of us turned farmer and farmerettes and helped the community people pick their cotton.

November—It is so hard to study when everything calls your attention away from work. We got a very short holiday, but we didn't mind if it would help to clear busses.

December—We had a wonderful Christmas dinner, even if some kinds of food were a little less plentiful than usual. We got nice long holidays, but holidays just weren't the same with so many of our friends in the service.

January—We had just gotten settled down to work again when mid-term tests came along but all of us got by without being seriously damaged.

February—We attended the dedication of the chapel in the new E. B. Hamrick Building and we were all deeply impressed by the sincerity and earnestness of our beloved President's speech. You know, Diary, there are just thirteen more weeks of school and we can hardly believe it.

March—March has been kinder this year; it left much of its wind and coldness behind. Goodness, I've never seen quite so much spirit and interest as is shown in our two literary societies.

April—April showers and just look what they brought—Junior-Senior Banquet with loads of fun for all concerned. Gee! Freshmen, we'll never forget that good time!

May—Diplomas and May poles! Graduation and May Day! Sorrow and gladness. 'Kat made a lovely May Queen, and the program was excellent. We strutted with pride at the dedication of the E. B. Hamrick Building with the former Governor O. Max Gardner and Governor Broughton as guest speakers. Well, Diary, our furlough at Gardner-Webb has ended and we did shed some real tears along with the joy. I wonder what all of us will be doing a year from now. Au revoir, Diary.

With every good wish - Furman Kitchin
Don't make always. Mrs. Johnson.
I am sure.

Dear old woman,

Love things have gone to an end with me.

For the time being. But maybe.

don't know when". Buena Vista &

Admire your sense of humor. And don't you have great possibilities, keep climbing & you will come out on top. Don't forget our love & good wishes. Don't forget me - laughing at you when you were speaking -

Write me this summer,

Love,
